No. of Participants: 66

On April 27, 2022, One Day National seminar on “International Migration of Youth from Punjab: Causes And Consequences” was organized by Department of Political Science, sponsored by Indian Council of Social Science Research, Ministry of Education, Government of India. The seminar was presided by Dr. Emanuel Nahar, Chairman, Punjab State Commission for Minorities. Dr. Ronki Ram, chairperson, Department of Political Science Panjab University Chandigarh was the keynote speaker. He discussed some of the main reasons behind the migration of people in India. In demographic terms, international migration affects a population directly by changing its size and age structure and indirectly by influencing the overall number of future births. While the former is instantaneous in nature, the latter has long-term and far-reaching consequences. Migration can also have an impact on larger social phenomenon, such as democratic institutions, environmental degradation and gender norms, either through the transmission of values and knowledge or through the resources provided by remittances. Teachers from other colleges also presented their views during the seminar.
